Meeting Minutes - Client Meeting #4

Possible Features Review

- The client mentioned that she is undergoing peer review on the project and its possible features from her colleagues.
- Through the feedback she has been receiving, she has been keeping an eye out for features that would be really great to implement into the project which means potential changes to the functionalities of the project may occur.
- In the event that changes occur, the client will let us know.

For Next Week:

- This next will will be all about implementing the project and coding. So it is possible that we will not need a client meeting next week.
- In the event that we do not need the client meeting, we should let Ruth know by Monday night.
